Program Description

The primary objective of the Advisor-Approved concentration is to provide a flexible platform for the student to develop an area of concentration that differs from those listed by the Business Administration and Economics Department. Students selecting the Advisor-Approved concentration will meet with an advisor and develop the student's career goals and objectives. The advisor and the student will then translate these goals and objectives into a focused collection of academic course work. The Advisor-Approved concentration can be used to combine existing concentrations or to develop interdisciplinary concentrations.
