Program Description

The primary objective of the Finance concentration is to provide a series of educational experiences at the undergraduate level as a basis for a career within the Finance profession. The broad range of core course offerings provides opportunities for individual placement in public, private, or non-profit organizations. Furthermore, the flexibility of elective hours in the major allows individuals desiring a particular career area to achieve some specialization. The Finance program at Wayne State College strives to build professionalism in its graduates. It not only includes an intensive analysis of the Finance discipline, but also requires support educational course work in other areas of business and economics. Upon completion of the program, students will possess the educational background required for most entry-level Finance positions.
