Career Opportunities

Secondary teaching in public and private schools.

Special Offerings

Faculty who teach in Social Science areas have established a consistent record of excellence in teaching, research, and service to community, region, and state. Students majoring in Social Sciences have had the opportunity to study under faculty members from across the U.S. Faculty regularly present papers at national and regional conferences in their disciplines as well as contribute to books and journals in their fields. Many are active in professional association and in local/regional organizations.

See list of related student organizations on Social Sciences major page.

Scholarships and Financial Aid

Wayne State College is committed to providing a quality, affordable education for its students. There are several types of financial assistance available for Wayne State students, including grants, loans, work-study and scholarships. The aid packages are composed of money from PELL grants, SEOG grants, Nebraska Opportunity Grants (NOG), Perkins loans, Stafford student loans, PLUS loans and a variety of scholarships. Contact the Financial Aid Office at (402) 375-7230 for further information.

There are several scholarships for Social Sciences majors. The awards are based on past achievements, predicted successes, special abilities, and/or financial need.

Program Description

Social Sciences Teacher Education - There are seven subject area endorsements in the social sciences. Many students choose the field endorsement, a 66-hour major which combines coursework in all the Social Sciences - anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, and sociology. Please see catalog for a complete listing of program requirements.

OTHER

NOTE: The above sequence is only a suggestion. Final decision rest with the student and the academic advisor(s) and will vary depending on the schedule, endorsement requirements, etc.

Students should plan to complete some courses during summer school if they wish to complete graduation requirements in a four-year period.

Students seeking endorsements in education need to work closely with their advisors regarding the required coursework in the subject endorsements and in professional education.

Students are encouraged to consider taking a foreign language as part of their general education program. (See appropriate section of catalog.)
